Sara Riis

Specializes in strengthening talent development, talent test tools, talent coaching, career development, screening of candidates when recruiting, outplacement management- and co-worker development.

YOUR TALENTS ARE MY PASSION

My drive lies in helping more people create a meaningful work life, based on unique, natural strength and talents within each person. I do this via individual strength-based talent coaching – based on the most effective, precise, and valid test tool on the market.

FIND YOUR OWN TALENT – AND BRING IT INTO PLAY

It brings me value to:

- Help increasing the self awareness, which supports the power of being more of the person you already are - at your best.
- Deliver an effective tool, which helps moving yourself and your co-workers.
- Create insight and increase the understanding of how we complement each other and achieve more together – than apart.

MY BACKGROUND

When coaching, I combine all my insights from hundreds of talent coachings, as well as 20 years of experience with skill development, recruiting processes, career development, and communications – as well as my own talents that are being positively challenged and brought into play, when meeting each unique person.

Education: Bachelor's Degree in Communications & Sociology – The University of Lund, Business Coach, Master of NLP, Master of Personal Leadership, certification of Talent test TT38, Talent Indicator, and Play Your Talent.

"Dedication, job satisfaction, and success are all about discovering your own – and your co-workers' talents, and being able to bring them into play"

Read more at:
www.sarariis.dk

play your talent